STATEMENTS OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

I

Act 76 of 1976.- Industrialisation and pressure of population have resulted in heavy destruction of tree growth in urban areas. Trees which provide shade, mitigate the extremes of climate, render aesthetic beauty, purify the polluted atmosphere, mute the noise, have been one of the first casualties of pressure on space in our cities and towns.

The percentage of forest area in the heavy rainfall zone is very much below the required level. Denudation in the rest of the areas has catastrophic results. This is the zone forming the catchment of the major rivers in South India. Large scale felling of trees has resulted in increased soil erosion and floods during monsoons. Stream flow during the rest of the year is reduced. Sedimentation in the reservoirs of our multi-crore projects has increased.

In the vast belt covered by the eastern districts of the State, drought and famine conditions have become recurring features. Rains have become erratic. Loss of soil moisture due to wind is excessive. Due to shortage of fuel, cow dung instead of being diverted as manure to the fields is availed as fuels. Avenue trees are destroyed. In this some judicious mixture of silviculture and agriculture can benefit agriculture and animal husbandry. Small number of trees, well distributed, grown in the marginal lands and on bunds of fields can be more effective than blocks of plantations. Trees of leguminous species can benefit agriculture by improving the soil, provide green leaf manure and fodder for cattle. It will provide small timber and fuel.

We have reached the stage when it is incumbent to legislate to restrict and regulate the felling of trees and prescribe growing of a minimum number where none exists.

II

Amending Act 21 of 1977.- As per sub-section (6) of section 8 of the Karnataka Preservation of Trees Act, 1976 (Karnataka Act No. 76 of 1976), for bona fide domestic use of a family, any one or more members of such family are entitled to fell trees to the extent of fetching not more than two cubic meters of timber and one and a half tones of firewood. Several requests were made to Government from different forums to relax such limit of felling of trees. After considering the actual requirements of the agricultural population, now it is decided to relax the limit of felling of trees so that the yield obtained from such felling does not exceed two cubic meters of timber and five tones of firewood.

Government has also received a suggestion that in case of malnad areas where planting of casuarina and hopea, wightiana trees is taken up both for bona fide domestic use as well as commercial purpose, any restrictions on felling of such trees may hamper plantation of such trees. It is the intention of the Government to encourage the raising of plantations of such trees by private persons and not to place any restriction to fell those trees. Therefore, it is also considered necessary to exempt the above two kinds of trees from the purview of section 8 of the Act.

Hence this Bill.

III

Amending Act 14 of 1979.- For the purposes of providing necessary firewood to run the tea factories, it is considered necessary to exempt the ancillary areas attached to tea estate from the provisions of the Act.

Opportunity is taken to make certain verbal changes in the repealing section. Since the Assembly was not in session an Ordinance was promulgated. This Bill seeks to replace the said Ordinance.

(Obtained from L.C. Bill No. 1979).

IV

Amending Act 39 of 1987.- As per sub-section (7) of section 8 of the Karnataka Preservation of Trees Act, 1976, the restrictions on felling of trees in any land in the ownership or occupancy of any person do not apply to felling of casuarina and hopea weightiana trees. People have started planting different species of trees in their land to improve ecological conditions and to meet their requirements of fire wood, fodder etc. Restrictions on felling of such trees which are raised by the owners or occupants for the aforementioned purposes may act as disincentive to grow trees in private lands. Therefore, it is proposed to amend sub-section (7) to include some more species of trees so that the restrictions in section 8 shall not be applicable to such species of trees.

Hence the Bill.

- (ii) To provide for cancellation or suspension of permission under certain circumstances;
- (iii) to prohibit granting permission under section 8 to fell trees if it involves felling of all trees for cultivation or extension of cultivation of rubber or tea;
